Reduce & reuse

WARPit is a website for colleges and departments to share useful items they no longer need. The system is open to all college and University staff but is for workplace items, not for personal use.

WARPit helps your department or college to:

- save your department or college money
- save time
- avoid disposal costs
- re-use surplus or redundant resources
- avoid the need for purchase orders (POs) or quotes – everything is free
- reduce waste and environmental impacts

There are lots of items available – examples include:

- office furniture and equipment
- stationery and supplies
- accessories
- storage furniture
- printer consumables
- laboratory equipment

To register, sign up on Oxford's page on the WARPit website www.warp-it.co.uk/company/oxforduniversity. Once your account is active, you can:

- search for items
- add or claim items
- create a wish list so you can be notified when new items are added

This portal helps the University reduce waste. To find out how much the University has saved to date, visit its WARPit page.

Don't waste it... WARPit !!

In addition UniGreenScheme offers a free service that allows departments to recoup valuable space, money and supports the environment.

The scheme collects, stores and sells your unused or surplus high-value laboratory or other specialist equipment, returning some of the proceeds to you. www.unigreenscheme.co.uk
